The story of Lieutenant Kijé is a story of Russian absurdity, a satirical comedy, which has equaled no less than the masterpieces of Russian thinkers of the 19th and 20th centuries, such as the works of Saltykov-Shedrin and Gogol. In 1934, a film was made based on the work, and Sergei Prokofiev, who had recently arrived in Soviet Russia from Europe, was invited to write the music. Later Prokofiev rearranged the music from the film into a separate work for orchestra in 4 movements. We will hear this piece, orchestrated by us for a small ensemble, especially for this concert. In addition, we will talk about Prokofiev's film music, and how it differs from his symphonic opus.
